Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railway

The following correspondence between Col W W Chapman, President of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad Company, and Governor Bennett, of Idaho will be interesting to all readers, and especially to citizens of Portland

PORTLAND Oregon Oct 7 1872

To His Excellency, I. W. Bennett Governor of Idaho—SIR: On our first acquaintance I was pleased to observe that our great railroad enterprise was first in your thoughts Our citizens regard the enterprise of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad as of vital importance to the welfare and prosperity of the State, and truthfully of the whole Pacific Northwest, in this that it will not only open communication and give speedy and cheap transportation between different extensive sections of country, make them accessible to population, develop their resources, but as a through line, upon the shortest and most direct route from the great heart of commerce upon the Atlantic side to the Pacific Northwest upon the true line of Asiatic commerce, will be of general and National importance The line of the proposed road lies centrally through your Territory, for more than three hundred miles, and practically through your seat of government For, although Boise City is not named as a point in the line of the road, I have always regarded it in that light The opening of this line of communication has been looked to for many years, and the aid of the Government has been invoked to that end, but without effect until the present Congress granted the right of way, &c

Under the pressing necessity for the immediate construction of certain sections of the road, the State of Oregon, by its Legislature, is about to grant aid in that behalf, and a bill for that purpose has already passed one House, and in all probability will become a law Should this be the case, it will make the way clear for a success in the undertaking This aid looks to the construction of the portage links of the road on the Columbia river first, so as to open that river to competition in steamer transportation, and simultaneously to the construction of the road from the Columbia to Baker City The benefits to be derived from opening the Columbia to competition will be reflected immensely upon all the industries of Idaho, Oregon and Washington, while the extension of the road by sections towards and to Boise City, will afford incomparably great advantages to the inhabitants of your Territory. Under this view of the subject it has been my purpose through the Governor of the Territory, to ascertain whether the citizens of Idaho feel a sufficient interest in the success of the enterprise to afford any material aid I feel quite sure that the co-operation of the Executive and Legislature of Idaho with those of our own State in furtherance of this great enterprise, can but have a beneficial influence with the National Government, as well as with all such as may be found with us in prosecuting the work

Unity of sentiment itself is highly important in an undertaking of this kind, and its manifestation during the last year has been productive of much good But there are counter enterprises almost daily thrust forward, having a tendency to divide and alienate the feelings of the people, and weaken efforts made in the right direction Thus far, however, we have been able to keep in the ascendency, and the prospect now is that in a few more days the enterprise will be beyond the efforts of its opponents

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
W W CHAPMAN,

CLARENDON HOTEL,
Portland, Oregon, Oct. 7, 1872

SIR I am in receipt of your favor of this date, in reference to the enterprise of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad Co And I fully agree with you "that the construction of this road is of vital importance to the welfare and prosperity of the State of Oregon, and truthfully of the whole Pacific Northwest," Indeed, I am quite sure that upon this enterprise depends, to a great extent, the future of Eastern Oregon, and the Territory of Idaho For while the natural advantages of these sections are unsurpassed and their resources the finest in the world, yet I am quite sure that their development can never be made without the aid of a railroad. The time has passed in this country when emigration, capital and labor will seek isolated regions, shut out from the markets, and business centers of the world, however salubrious the climate, and however rich and varied the natural resources Great lines of railways already penetrate other vast sections of the undeveloped regions of this continent, and thither will the star of empire take its way, unless we, too, awake to our situation, and manfully grapple with the great problems of development that demand immediate solution And while a railroad in almost any direction touching these great interior valleys and basins of Eastern Oregon, Southeastern Washington, and Central Idaho, would greatly benefit them, yet I am confident that no other enterprise can so successfully meet the wants of the people, and so surely and speedily develop those vast regions as this Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake railroad It begins at the right place—the great and growing city of Portland, which is surely destined to be the great commercial metropolis of the Northwest, if her citizens and the people of Oregon keep awake to all the means of her future development Then this road passes through the heart of that vast agricultural, mineral, grazing, and fruit growing region—the magnificent valleys of the Umatilla, the Walla Walla, the Grand Ronde, the Powder, the Weiser, the Payette, and the Boise—all natural tributaries to Portland and together satisfying the traveler that here is the spot of which the poet must have written when he said

> "Tis a land of every land the pride
> Beloved by Heaven, o'er all the world beside,
> Where brighter suns dispense serener light
> And milder moons emparadise the night.

Without your road, this beautiful and rich domain will remain undeveloped, and all its enterprises, and its hopes languish and die but with your road a new life will inspire it, and in a short time it will develop into mighty States—the peers of their older sisters

The people of Idaho Territory, I am sure, fully appreciate the absolute necessity of an early completion of this road to Boise City The subject has been fully discussed by the people and in the public press, and I know of no dissenting voices The Territory is new and sparsely settled its treasury is not overflowing, but the people recognize the fact that for every dollar they invest in this enterprise thousands will return to them through the innumerable channels which it will open up to them The Legislative Assembly of Idaho, which convenes on the first Monday in December next, will have the subject fully laid before them, and I doubt not they will adopt measures of practicable and material aid to this great enterprise We, in Idaho, are anxiously waiting to see what Oregon does, for unless that State should show a determination and liberality commensurate with her position, and her great advantages to be derived from the control of the immense trade to be opened up by this road, we of course, can do nothing in Idaho And from experience I have learned that we need not expect aid from Congress until we ourselves act in such a practical manner as shall prove to the world that we are in earnest, and that our people demand the road Petitions and memorials are of no avail unless we back them with real practical, earnest legislation of our own. Let the present Legislature of Oregon immediately pass the bill now before them or a similar one, then Idaho will at once follow with a substantial effort, straining every nerve not to be outdone in her zeal for this important work Then Congress seeing that the people mean business, and having shown their faith by their works, will most certainly come to our aid, and the grand and vital enterprise will be an accomplished success

Promising you that I shall spare no effort to interest the people of Idaho, to a speedy and practicable co operation in behalf of your road, and hoping to hear that the people of Oregon, through their Legislature have promptly met the responsibilities of the hour in the premises I subscribe myself

Your obedient servant,
L W BENNETT,
Gov of Idaho.

THE HERO OF ATLANTA —Among the happy rovers whom the brisk autumn gales of the Atlantic waft back to our shores is General Sherman, who has been "doing" the continent of Europe for more than a [illegible] past For an intellect so quick and observant as his this trip must be [illegible] experiences, gathered with rare relish in many lands, and he, no doubt, returns home to his duties at Washington with an ample store of facts for future digestion and [illegible] At Paris, where the traces of the Communistic vandals are disappearing nearly as rapidly as the vestiges of the holocaust in our own Chicago, he dined with M'Mahon, and was perhaps as a special act of courtesy, allowed to chat with the disgraced Bazaine At Geneva he attracted as much attention as the august International Tribunal itself, and there he met the veteran Dufour, which some one has aptly called the coming together of Austerlitz and Atlanta But whether enjoying the lavish hospitalities of the vice regal court at Cairo, cleaving the purple waters of the Golden Horn in the Sultan's yacht, lunching at the Winter Palace, or the guest of the Hapsburg at Vienna, he always retained that self-possession and bluntness which fits him as easily as his undress uniform With a freedom of manner that is natural to him, our American General announced his views in public and private, in the presence of Emperors and Kings, making no concealment upon any matter about which he was sounded. When asked by a distinguished Englishman what the result of the Alabama controversy would be, he modestly disclaimed any knowledge of the plans of his Government, but emphatically stated the conviction that England must pay the damages awarded, to the last cent In this respect we may venture to maintain that the United States have never before been so truly represented abroad as they were by the hero of Atlanta and the March to the Sea The fresher and more wholesome ideas of the New World were almost unconsciously illustrated in his apothegmatic observations on the rights of the Old, and the seeds of Republican ideas thus scattered broadcast may bear in time a good harvest To the doctrinaries of Europe he was a phenomenon which they could not comprehend, though the magnetism of his simple manners compelled admiration The plain, unpretending American Generalissimo of the Republic seemed such a different personage from the gold laced and bestarred warriors of the Continental States, that we are hardly surprised at the rudeness with which he was treated by the Potsdam officials —Inter Ocean.

CULTURE AND SACRIFICE —The instruction of the world has been carried on by perpetual sacrifice A grand army of teachers, authors, artists, schoolmasters, professors, heads of colleges—have been through ages carrying on war against ignorance, but no triumphal procession has been decreed to it, no spoils of conquered provinces have come to its coffers, no crown imperial has invested it with pomp and power In lonely watch-towers the fires of genius have burned, but to waste and consume the lamp of life, while they gave light to the world It is no answer to say that the victims of intellectual toil, broken down in health and fortune, have counted their work a privilege and joy As well deny the martyr's sacrifice because he has joyed in his integrity. And many of the world's intellectual benefactors have been martyrs Socrates died in prison as a public malefactor, for the healing wisdom he offered, his people, deadly poison was the reward Homer had a lot so obscure, at least, that nobody knew his birthplace, and indeed some modern critics are denying that there ever was any Homer Plato traveled back and forth from his home in Athens to the court of the Syracuse tyrant, regarded indeed and feared but persecuted and in peril of life, nay, and once sold for a slave Cicero shared a worse fate Dante all his life knew, as he expressed it,

> How salt was a stranger's bread
> How hard the path still up and down to tread,
> A stranger's stairs "

Copernicus and Galileo found science no more profitable than Dante found poetry Shakespeare had a home, but too poorly endowed to stand long in his name after he left it the income upon which he retired was barely two or three hundred pounds a year; and so little did his contemporaries know or think of him, that the critics hunt in vain for the details of his private life "The mighty span of his large honors" shrink to an obscure myth of life in theatres in London or on the banks of the Avon —Discourse of Orville Dewey.

The New Apportionment

The bill introduced by Mr Dolph Senator from Multnomah, providing for the re apportionment of the representation of the State in the Legislature increase the number of Senators from twenty two to thirty and the number of Representatives from forty nine to sixty. The Legislature now has on joint ballot seventy one votes requiring thirty six for a majority Under the apportionment of Senator Dolph's bill forty six will be a majority on joint ballot

The new apportionment will give one Senator to 5 000 of population and one Representative to 1 500 nearly Multnomah gains two Senators and three Representatives Marion one Senator and one Representative Linn one Senator and one Representative Lane one Senator Douglas two Senators and one Representative Yamhill one Senator and one Representative Washington one Senator and one Representative Clackamas, one Senator and one Representative Union one Representative Coos one Representative and Baker one Representative. Jackson loses two Representatives. The old Senatorial District of Douglas, Coos and Curry is changed so as to include only Coos and Curry with the loss of one Senator Washington is left out of the Senatorial District embracing Columbia, Clatsop and Tillamook with the representation unchanged The other counties and Districts remain unchanged as to both territory and boundaries.

The gains, with one exception, are all west of the Cascade range of mountains. The eastern counties retain the same numbers as heretofore except that Union gains one Representative Jackson, which loses two Representatives, lies on both sides of the mountains

The actual difference of numbers between the old apportionment and that proposed by Mr Dolph, does not correctly represent the effect which the latter if adopted will have upon the votes of the Legislature Increasing the number of members composing the two houses, makes the relative gains of strength less than the absolute, and the relative losses greater. Thus, in the Senate Multnomah has now two members out of twenty two under the new apportionment her strength will not be doubled, but she will have four out of thirty Jackson, on the other hand, will have in the House only one member out of sixty whereas she now has three out of forty nine So those counties which will have the same number as heretofore, will be relatively weaker under the new apportionment.

We have taken pains to compare Mr Dolph's bill with the returns of the census taken in 1870, and can say that the apportionment proposed tallies very well with the population of the respective counties and districts

Sensible Talk

The State Journal, after giving a general statement of Mr Simpson's Lock bill makes the following sensible remarks upon the subject

> We have always believed that the appropriation of $200 000 for these locks, was made by the Democrats more as a speculation than for the purpose of improving navigation We are still of that opinion, and have no doubt that a majority of the people of the State take this view of the case But it is argued now by the advocates of the bill, many of whom hold to this opinion in regard to the original appropriation, that, after having invested $200,000 in this Canal, unwisely and improperly, the State should take control of the Canal in order to keep open the navigation of the river and prevent it from falling into the possession of railroad companies, who might advance freights by letting it become unfit for use after it has been completed and the bonds for its construction have been released. After deducting ten per cent for the school fund, and the amount which the State will receive from tolls they claim that but a small sum annually will remain to be paid out of the Treasury And they argue that the farmers of Oregon, and especially of the counties in the upper Wallamet Valley—Marion, Yamhill Polk, Benton, Linn and Lane—will be benefited in the price of freight on their wheat and other produce, more every year than the whole amount of rent proposed to be paid for the locks, even if no revenue should be derived from tolls These considerations seem to have great weight with many, and will probably cause the bill to pass It is not a party measure having the support of part of the members of both parties in each branch of the Legislature

There were few Republicans who did not consider the original Lock bill of 1870 a mere job and, so far as we have been able to ascertain the sentiment of the party, the same opinion is entertained still And we apprehend Republicans are almost equally unanimous in the opinion that the remedy for the evil produced by that unjust legislation is in the State's getting back the control of that with which it ought never to have parted Whatever may be the differences of opinion among Republicans as to the propriety of passing the bill now pending there is little if any, diversity outside the railroad employes, upon the proposition that in some way the State ought to secure the control of its principal highway of communication between the producing districts and the sea As the Journal well says, this is not a party measure The question it opens is one which reaches the "pocket nerve" of the whole community, and it will be decided in accordance with the views of the members of the Legislature respecting its bearing upon the material interests of the whole people

At the reception Saturday evening one of the speakers told a story which we consider the most palpable hit of the campaign He compared the position of Horace Greeley, since his descent from the high position of the leading journalist of the Republican party to that of cup bearer to the Tammany ring with that of a certain head of a family whose conduct had rendered it impossible for him to command the respect of his own household The son of this pater-familias was out in the yard where the farm dog was engaged in worrying a pig Pater familias raved at the dog without effect He then ordered the boy to call the dog off The boy gave no heed to his father's command, which fact being observed by a staid old Judge who happened to be riding that way, he called out to the lad in his most authoritative tones and demanded of him why he thus disobeyed his father's behest Young hopeful replied Well Judge it's all right The fact is the Gov has got so kind o' crazy in his way o doin things that he don't know nearly all the time hisself what he wants so mother she don't pay no attention to him, and I don't pay no attention to him, and between me and mother we've got the dog so he don't pay no attention to him and now it's all right you see

The wheat crop of the Wallamet Valley the present year is estimated at 3 000 000 bushels We have not heard any person place it at a less amount Assuming the increase over the crop of last year to be as great as that of last year over the year preceding, the amount this year would be somewhat over 4 000,000 bushels But let the smaller estimate be adopted The freight on 3 000,000 bushels at four cents per bushel is $120 000 Now consider the present freight tariff With competing lines of steamboats on the Wallamet river the freight both by rail and boat would be reduced at least four cents per bushel—in all probability more than that sum This reduction would save the producers $120 000 per annum on the single item of wheat making no allowance for increase of production

The Eugene [illegible] the only paper in the State that has con[illegible] of the Bill to [illegible] the theory that the navigation of the Wallamet river ought not to be controlled by the State We have no knowledge whether Mohammed went to the mountain or the mountain came to Mohammed in the formation of this unholy alliance We venture however to offer congratulations to one of the parties and condolence to the other

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT]

SALEM Oct 7 1872

There may be some place that appears duller than the Capital city of the great State of Oregon does when its Fairs and Senatorial elections and Lock and Dam n swindles are all asleep but I doubt it To day I went up into that spacious and gorgeous hall with ceilings eight feet high which the representatives of the people have seized upon and named the House of Representatives It was empty, swept and garnished—only it was not swept To morrow in the afternoon those spirits, which have been wont to move about in that great room will return to it and it will be well for the State at large if they do not bring with them other spirits more wicked than themselves The place is only desolate now—and it would be possible to make it more than desolate However I believe the people of Salem will bear testimony that that little coterie of gentlemen who assume to judge of the qualifications of their own members are of pretty respectable habits notwithstanding their disposition to take the government of the whole country into their own hands If this be so I am quite ready to admit that their presence here will be preferable to these bare cold walls which stare at me as if they had a gorgon like intent to stare my youth and beauty into stone. There!

To be at Salem during the Fair was a pleasure and I enjoyed it To be here after the Fair is an ecstasy, and I am enraptured by it. While the Fair was going on I prospected human nature a good deal, and thought I struck some decidedly rich leads Since it closed, I have continued the same business, but it is nuggets now instead of "colors. "The tender affection with which exhibitors caressed the judges of their respective classes of articles before the decisions were announced, was enough to make one remember with secret and sacred emotions the time in the auld lang syne, when he used to sit on the kitchen door step in the sweet silver light of the moon, with—the other person But now the decisions are pronounced the blue ribbons, and the yellow ribbons and the white ribbons are awarded the vein of depravity that runs through all human nature, crops out magnificently, with all its dips, spurs and angles plainly visible A lady who had some articles on exhibition and whom I saw a few days ago in the pavilion cooing in the most melting manner at the judges of her branch of business, now declares that those judges are a set of boors, without taste, sense or honesty I saw another lady, Saturday, who had exhibited in the same line, and who was carrying certain jaunty little ribbons She smiled sweetly, and I know she was satisfied with herself and the rest of the world, and I desired to be happy too I introduced myself as a respectable citizen of Portland on Wallamet, descended from poor but honest parents, and now engaged in redeeming the world from ignorance and misery by writing for the OREGONIAN She at once acknowledged my claims to recognition, and told me that she was happy She referred to those judges whom I had just heard anathematized and said they were the most remarkable persons of this or any other age Indeed, persons of such refined and educated tastes ought not to be frittering away their energies in the manufacture of potatoes, and onions, and sash and doors, and butter and blooded sheep and such They ought to be editing Art Magazines and lecturing in Academies of Design—they ought to be anywhere else but in this backwoods country I knew that woman had taken a premium I know now that the other woman was her competitor Such is human nature Before and after the election are different things

This forenoon I took a stroll out to the Penitentiary The place looked cool and quiet but somehow I had no inclination to enter I have a sort of instinct in regard to such institutions that damps the joy I might otherwise have in gazing upon their architectural beauties "Coming events cast their shadows before" I don't like even to write about this building I would, however, endeavor to overcome this 'dirty prejudice, and give you a full description of the institution, but I suppose you know all about it already If you do not now, you will some day It is to be hoped for the building is very fine and exactly adapted to that purpose

Grant's Treatment of Rawlins

The Greeley papers have busied themselves of late with the circulation of reports of ill treatment by President Grant of Secretary Rawlins during his last sickness A brother of the Secretary vindicates the President against this charge in a letter to the Baltimore Gazette:

> To the Editors of Baltimore Gazette—Gentlemen In your edition of last Friday, the 13th inst, appears an editorial headed 'A Dead Friend' in which you refer to the President's connection with the late John A Rawlins in a manner calculated to reflect very unjustly upon the former's friendship for the latter As a brother of Gen Rawlins I have to request that you will give a place in your paper for this note in which I beg to assure you that nothing could be further from the true facts in the case than the statements made in the editorial referred to
> The whole course of the President during the illness, and since the death of my brother has been so generous and given such earnest evidence of his great regard for General Rawlins, as to place our whole family under the deepest gratitude
>
> The fund subscribed by the personal friends of General Rawlins was paid over to the President and fully accounted for in every respect, and was invested for the benefit of General Rawlins' family in the manner designed by those contributing the fund to the perfect satisfaction of the family who are pained more by such an article as your editorial of last Friday than the President can possibly be I am sir your obedient servant,

The State Journal thus speaks of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railway enterprise

> The construction of this line of railroad will be of great advantage to Eastern Oregon the city of Portland, and will add largely to the growth and prosperity of the whole State It will be the most direct line of connection with the East by way of Salt Lake and the Union Pacific Chicago St Louis and points in the middle group of States can be reached easier and quicker by this route than by way of California over the Northern Pacific Railroad And it will so develop the resources of the country as not to injure either of the other roads but will no doubt increase the business of each of them The road must and will be built in time and the sooner it is done the better it will be for the whole country Col W W Chapman the President of the Company is in Salem working hard to secure the passage of this bill He spent last winter in Washington and we can testify to the fact that he worked with untiring zeal and energy to secure a land grant but only succeeded in getting the right of way

Oline & Co of Yaquina, will charter a schooner and ship their goods direct from San Francisco instead of bringing them around this way.

The Olympia Courier has the following which is rather pleasant news to the people at the new terminus: "We state it, neither as rumor or fact, but as a logical inference drawn from several circumstances and events recently transpired, that it will be determined within two or three weeks from this date, by the Directors of the North Pacific Railroad Company to complete the railroad from Hodgdens to Olympia without delay We are not at liberty to be more explicit, nor can we give the names of informants, but we believe our authority to be correct

TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 8 1872

CITY.

MUSIC A'LA MODE.—The people of Portland are a musical people as to a proper appreciation of music in the abstract and the skill and number of performers. Every class of instrument from the fuzzy guzzy to the violin, is represented by some performer either more or less clever in the use of his or her fingers. Among the ladies the piano is by far the most highly prized and favorite instrument. But we flatter ourself that no lady in this city performs on the piano in the manner described by an amateur critic who is ill bred enough to say "She was a young woman, with as many white muslin flounces around her as the planet Saturn has rings. She gave the music stool a whirl or two, and flopped down on it like a whirl of soap suds in a hand basin. Then she pushed up her cuffs as if she was going to fight for the championship belt. Then she wriggled and twisted herself into a position similar to a traveling turtle, elevated her sentimental eye balls as if studying the figures of the fresco work upon the ceiling, after having gobbled the necessary inspiration, threw herself at the piano as if to wreak suppositious vengeance from every flat and sharp upon the guilty key board. She hammered it, caressed it, flirted with it, banged it—in fact, overcame it, and after pounding all manner of life out of it, was conveyed away, wriggling and apparently fainting, while the gents were enraptured and the ladies applauded with 'faint' praise—for all of which the unsuspecting public supports fraudulent female seminaries and colleges." We are strongly inclined to think that all this is a vile slander, but if the thing is possible for music to be served up in that manner, "excruciatingly ravishing" is but a feeble word to express its charms.

DRUNK AGAIN.—Mrs. Madden, alias King, was again up before Judge Denny yesterday morning. As usual, the charge was drunken and disorderly conduct. This woman has been before the police court frequently of late, on similar charges, and has become a notorious nuisance in that way. Several weeks ago she was engaged in a drunken brawl, tried, found guilty, and sentenced for five days to the County Jail. Before she was discharged, an effort was made to have her committed to the Asylum, on the grounds of "whisky insanity," and thus rid the community of her presence. On an examination before Judge Hamilton, she proved to be compos mentis, and was discharged, on the most solemn promise on her part, to observe the rules of temperance and common decency for the future. Sunday she was again arrested for drunkenness. The case was continued until this morning. This woman, when arrested for such violation of the city's peace and dignity, always has a very plausible (?) story to tell to prove her entire innocence, and when sentenced, will weep and overwhelm the ears of the court with the most gracious promises of good behavior. No sooner, however, does she escape, than she takes to her old tricks again with renewed gusto. She is a hopeless inebriate, and nothing but confinement in either the Inebriate or Insane Asylum, will reach her fallen and depraved state. This woman has several little girls, who are thus being early trained to intemperance and prostitution, through the vile example of their mother. Surely something ought to be done to relieve the community of this female pest, and snatch these helpless children from daily contact with such degrading influences.

FOUR CHARGES.—A man named Jordan was arrested last evening on the complaint of his wife, for assault. Jordan had some trouble with his wife, in the course of which he drew a pistol. He gave bonds for his appearance, went back to his house and began to carry away the furniture. The wife remonstrated, when he commenced to beat her. She made a second complaint, and he was again arrested. He gave bonds, and returned to his house and began to wreak his vengeance on the furniture by smashing it to pieces. His wife again interfered and again got whipped for her trouble. Complaint was again made, Jordan was arrested, gave bonds, returned and ruined the remainder of the furniture, whipped his wife, was arrested for the fourth time, gave bonds, and will be tried this morning on four separate charges. Jordan certainly evinces a zeal worthy of a better cause than breaking furniture and whipping his wife.

THROWN.—A small boy named George Seller, was thrown from his horse last Sunday, beyond King's creek, and severely injured. He was riding along towards the city at a point in the road where a steep bluff was on one side, and an embankment on the other. The horse shied at some object at the upper side of the road, and sprang off the bluff. The boy was thrown to the ground and seriously bruised, while the horse rolled over and over to the bottom. The boy was picked up by a passing wagon and conveyed to his home in this city, in an unconscious condition. The injuries of the boy are severe but not considered of a dangerous character. The horse was not injured.

CROSSWALKS.—An accident occurred the other evening on Fourth street which serves as a forcible reminder that the track should be planked at the crosswalks. A little boy was crossing Fourth street after dark. He did not know but what the track was planked and took no precaution. He stumbled and fell between the ties, skinning his face and severely bruising himself. He was picked up and carried home by a person who was attracted by the little fellow's cries. These crossings are in a condition actually dangerous to the public, and should be planked before some serious accident occurs.

NEATLY ILLUSTRATED.—Mr. L Samuel has laid on our table, the October number of his Traveler's Guide. This number contains the usual complement of necessary information to the tourist, besides the following neatly executed cuts: Odd Fellows' Temple, and Court House, Portland; Rooster Rock, Cape Horn, Lower Multnomah Falls, Castle Rock, Upper Cascades, on the Columbia river, and the Wallamet Falls at Oregon City. As a guide book it is invaluable.

AN OLD LOCUST.—On the block between C and D and Front and First streets, stands an old locust tree. This tree must have been transplanted at least twenty five years ago. It has attained a considerable height, and will measure near the ground two feet or more in diameter. The owner of the property on which this old landmark stands, has been heard to declare that he would not have the tree destroyed for a considerable sum of money.

PREPARATION.—We learn that the people of Clarke county, Washington Territory, are making extensive preparations for the Annual Fair to be held at Vancouver on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, of the present week. A number of horses are training daily over the track, which is reported to be in excellent condition. The Society are making every possible effort to make the coming exhibit surpass in extent and variety that of any previous year.

OYSTER CONTRACT.—We learn that the schooner Kate Herron, which sailed from this port several weeks ago, for Tillamook Bay, will not soon return here, as previously announced. That vessel is now on her way from Netart Bay to Shoalwater Bay, with a cargo of oysters. She has the contract of furnishing several cargoes of bivalves from the same place, and will not, consequently, come to Portland.

SCHOONER RACE.—The race between the Mila Bond and Kate Herron, from the mouth of the Columbia river to Tillamook, when both vessels sailed from this port several weeks ago, resulted in favor of the former craft. The Mila Bond made the passage from the mouth to the Bay in about thirty hours, and arrived at her destination several hours before her competitor.

MAN STRUCK.—Some fellow engaged in a free fight yesterday, in a saloon, which resulted in the barkeeper striking him over the head with a bottle. A fearful gash was cut near his temple and on the cheek. He was taken to the drug store of Smith and Davis, at the corner of Ash and First where the necessary repairs were gone through with, and the blood staunched.

NONE LOADING.—There is now no vessel loading at this port with wheat for any foreign port. The bark Loch Dee is discharging cargo and will be unloaded the present week. She will then commence at once to receive wheat for Liverpool. The bark Siam, now unloading iron at Astoria, will be in this port in the course of ten days to load with wheat.

HALF MAST.—The flags over the several engine houses in the city are displayed at half mast, in respect to the memory of James Allen, a member of Columbian No 3, who died yesterday.

MADE THE PASSAGE.—The bark Siam, now unloading iron at Astoria, made the passage from Liverpool to the mouth of the river in 103 days.

LOCAL BREVITIES

"Kerosenility" is the latest.

Pleasant but cloudy yesterday.

The moon will soon dispense its serene rays.

Elections are like tents, they end at the polls.

Steamer due from San Francisco this evening.

The Postoffice folks wrestle the mails in a lively manner.

Capt. Ainsworth's handsome stable will soon be completed.

Grading at the foot of Stark street is progressing rapidly.

The street car track is being laid over the cisterns on First street.

The trains on the east side road have resumed the regular schedule time.

Velvet will be as popular as ever for trimming this winter, especially in black.

Laton, whose foot was badly crushed at Cornelius on Saturday by a locomotive, had his leg amputated yesterday.

Two candidates for Chief Engineer, and three for the next official position in the Fire Department now in the field.

The steamer Geo S Wright carried to Sitka about a dozen head of cattle to supply the Government troops at that place.

A Chinese daily paper has been established on the Pacific coast called the Gab Gab. It is in the interest of Greeley, as the name would indicate.

The street corners are again illuminated with the familiar countenances of thieves and "rounders," who, like a flock of hungry vultures, have returned from the Fair.

Com. E N Fitzhugh, Miss Fitzhugh, Dr Brooks, Mrs L Caplin, L Caplin, and George A Edes, were among the passengers on board the steamer George S. Wright.

It is stated that the young ladies of San Francisco use the Day's Doings for "bustles." The young ladies of this city are more morally inclined and use religious papers only.

We have lately heard of a husband who has sued for a divorce because, during his absence from home, his wife wrote him to the effect that the longer he stayed away the better she liked him. She declares in her answer that she didn't mean it in that sense.

DEATH OF JAS. S ALLEN.—Yesterday at half past twelve o clock, after a lingering illness, James S Allen, of this city, breathed his last. Mr Allen was well known in Portland, having been on the police force, also an officer in one of our courts of justice and a Deputy United States Marshal. It was while he was engaged in his duties in the latter office that he contracted a severe cold which ran into consumption and finally caused his death. In all his dealings with his fellow men no man was more scrupulously honest, and none who knew him ever had reason to suspect his integrity. He was a man of fine social endowments, and possessed in a high degree the qualities which tended to render him a genial and agreeable companion. He was for seven years connected with the constabulary force of San Francisco, and those who knew him there bear testimony to the high esteem in which he was held in that city as an honorable and efficient officer. He was gentlemanly and courteous in his department, strong in his friendships and no man whom he claimed as a friend can say truthfully that James S. Allen ever betrayed a trust reposed in him. Like all men, he had his faults, but his nature was the soul of generosity, and these faults often leaned to virtue's side. We speak thus of Mr Allen because there are those in the community who knew him not so well, and who, not knowing him, did not appreciate his character. We knew him well, and knowing him, respected him for his truthfulness and his integrity, and liked him for his generous nature. His hand, now forever stilled in death, was always open to the needy, and many who are more attentive to the outward forms of piety, have not the same high sense of benevolence which actuated him. But his eye is dimmed, his heart has ceased its beating, and his spirit has gone to God, who gave it. May his soul rest in peace.

SHIP ZOUAVE.—The San Francisco Bulletin states that the American ship Zouave, from New York to this port, was spoken on the 9th of August, in Lat 25° S, Long 87° 05 W. Her rudder post was gone and she was steering with tackle. The Zouave has evidently encountered a severe stress of weather, which accounts for long delay.

THE WRECKED SCHOONER.—The loss of the schooner Rosa Perry, which was washed ashore at Shoalwater Bay on the 2d of October, is estimated at about $13,000. She was coming from Netart Bay with a cargo of oysters at the time. Both cargo and vessel were a total loss. All the passengers were saved, however.

THIRTY DAYS.—Freeman, the fellow who was caught Saturday evening in an attempt to steal a lot of tools from the workshop of Mr Drake, on Front street, was before Judge Denny yesterday morning. He was sentenced, on his own plea of guilty, to the County Jail for thirty days.

HELD COURT.—Judge Denny held a night session last evening of his court. He will go to Salem this morning and remain until to-morrow. He does not propose that the wheels of justice shall be clogged by his absence, or that misdoers shall go unpunished a day longer.

BOUND OVER.—Charles Brauillo was examined yesterday before United States Commissioner R. Wilcox on the charge of retailing liquor without a license. He was held to answer in the sum of $200 to appear before the United States Grand Jury.

STREET CARS.—The steamer now on the way from San Francisco has two street cars on board for the First street railway. The rest of the cars will be manufactured here. It is expected the street cars will be running by the first of November.

FELL.—The other evening, as a lady was crossing First street, at its intersection with Stark, she forgot about the street car track, and stumbled over one of the rails. She picked herself up with a sprained ankle and a pair of skinned hands.

THEATER AT SALEM.—The Waldron dramatic company are still playing at Reed's Opera House Salem. The company will probably continue to play there during the present week, and return in time to open Oro Fino Theater next week.

FILLING UP.—A gravel train is now employed along Fourth street to fill up that portion of the street between Taylor and Main up to the established grade. Planking will soon follow.

PROBABLY POSTPONED.—The race to come off on the Columbia river between the yachts Owl and Kittiwing has been postponed for the present, the season being too far advanced.

BALL.—We understand that the managers of the Clarke county Fair propose to wind up the exhibition with a grand ball at Vancouver on the day the Fair closes—Friday.

ROBBED.—We learn that a boarder at one of the hotels in this city was robbed yesterday of the sum of $150. Two parties were arrested and will be tried before Judge Denny.

GOES UP.—As the Legislature will convene this afternoon, a large number of persons took the train this morning for Salem.

L R SOCIETY.—The Ladies' Relief Society will meet at the usual place to-day, (Tuesday) at 2 o clock.

EPICUREANS will find at Stalls Nos 10 and 11 Central Market a very choice lot of game, fish and poultry. Quinn, who continues to dispense these luxuries at the Union Market, Washington street, presides over these Stalls, and that is all that need be said to induce every one to call.

NO GENTLEMAN knowingly trusts an unskillful tailor with the get up of his clothes, but seeks those who are reliable every way. In fashionableness of cut and neatness and durability of make up it is well known that the work of Fish & Roberts, corner of Washington and First streets, is unsurpassed. They are in receipt of a choice lot of fall goods and it is therefore recommended to those wishing the best to call. Boys clothes a specialty.

THEY HAVE EM.—If you have made up your mind to array yourself in a new outfit and are desirous of getting the latest styles, best goods and lowest prices, you can not do better than call and select from the fresh importations which Mr Schaef has been buying in San Francisco, for the house of J. O. Neil & Co. No. 5 First street. They have without doubt the finest goods ever offered to the public. Gaze in the window, go further, look, and—. Comment is unnecessary.

AN EXTENDED POPULARITY.—Each year finds Brown's Bronchial Troches in new localities in various parts of the world. For relieving coughs, colds and throat diseases, the Troches have been proved reliable.

Columbian Engine Co No 3.—Special meeting this (Tuesday) evening at 7½ o clock.

PERSONAL

Dr Aborn has returned from Salem and will hereafter be found at his rooms, corner of Third and Morrison streets.

Quite a number of members of the Legislature have been visiting Portland since Saturday. They return to the Capitol to day.

Dr Tolmie, one of the old pioneers of this coast, having resided west of the Rocky Mountains for the past thirty years, is now in this city on a brief visit.

Among the passengers who departed on the steamer George S Wright for Sitka was Mr. George A. Edes, Collector of Customs for that port.

AMUSEMENTS.

Thompson & Kingsley's grand circus combination will not exhibit this evening as announced. The first performance will be given to-morrow (Wednesday) evening at the corner of Sixth and B streets, the open space at the corner of Pine and Fourth streets not being of sufficient extent to allow the pavilion to be stretched.

JOHN WILSON'S GREAT SAN FRANCISCO CIRCUS AND ROMAN HIPPODROME, will exhibit at Hillsboro, October 15, 16, and 17; Lafayette, 18, McMinnville, 19, Dallas 21, Albany, 22, Corvallis, 23, Harrisburg, 24; Junction, 25, Eugene 26, Drain's Ranch 27, Oakland, 28 Roseburg, 29, Canyonville, 30 Grave Creek, 31 Rock Point, November 1, Jacksonville, 2, Cottonwood 3, Yreka, 4 Fort Jones, 5 Rough and Ready, 6, Callahan's Ranch, 7, Trinity Center, 8, Weaverville, 9 French Gulch, 11, Shasta, 12, Red Bluff, 11, Tehama, 14, Chico, 16. The management trusts that the public will not confound this grand concern with a one horse concern travelling ahead on the same route and representing that our Hippodrome is too large to travel overland. But if two hundred horses and eighty men are sufficient to transport us, we pledge ourselves to fill all the above stands on the above days and dates.

JOHN WILSON.

The old saying is, "What everybody says must be true," and everyone says that Beck & Waldman have the largest and best selected stock of the latest styles and patterns in gentlemen's Clothing and Furnishing Goods in the city of Portland. Defend Your Health

The fall of the leaves is not only symbolizes human decay, but promotes it. In other words, the effluvia from dying and rotting vegetation is unfavorable to health. To this and other causes—especially excess of moisture in the atmosphere—may be ascribed the prevalence of acute disorders of the stomach, bowels and liver at this season. Every person of bilious habit is liable to be very bilious in the fall. Then, too, all persons whose digestion is weak and more than ordinarily dyspeptic, and individuals predisposed to colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, are particularly likely to be attacked by those complaints. The most complete defense against each and all of these distressing ailments is bodily vigor. To obtain this blessing in all its plenitude where it does not exist, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is earnestly recommended. It is the peculiar office of this preparation to reinforce and regulate the important organs which digest and temper the food and convert it into life-sustaining blood. Bodily vigor depends upon the nourishing qualities of that fluid, and the nutritious quality of the blood depends upon the functional activity and regularity which it is the special province of the Bitters to secure. Hence it is the best defense of health at this season, and indeed at all seasons. When dysentery, diarrhoea, bilious colic, and other violent affections of the bowels become epidemic, as they often do in certain parts of the country in the fall, it will be found that persons who have been wise enough to resort to the Bitters as a preventive are almost invariably exempted from the scourge.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

MAGNOLIA BALM is used by all fashionable ladies in New York, London and Paris. It costs only 75 cents per bottle, and is sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

Humors of Letter Writing

When postage was high, says a writer in Temple Bar, letters were luxuries in which persons, far above the condition of those who are called poor, could not often indulge. We cannot give a better illustration of this than one we find in a letter addressed by Mr. Collins, the artist, to his brother (in 1816) when the landscape painter was twenty years of age. Collins was then at Hastings sketching, and had invited his brother to come down from Saturday to Monday. "The whole amount of the expense would be the coach, provided you put two biscuits in your pocket, which would answer as lunch and I would have dinner for you, which would not increase my expenditure above tenpence. I shall be at the place where the coach stops for you, should you be able to come. Write me nothing about it unless you have other business, for a letter costs a dinner." This was the artist who was overjoyed to receive £30 for his "Cromer Sands," the picture for which, at the sale of the Gillott collection, a purchaser was found to give, quite as joyously 3780 guineas.

Letters to children are as difficult to write as books for children. Crabb Robinson stands at the head of all inditers of little epistles, to little folk. He is not in the vein of Jeffrey to his grand-daughter, as in "I send you my blessing and wish I was kissing your sweet rosy lips or your fat finger tips." Robinson comes nearer to Hood, only that he could not stoop to use old jokes as well make new. The two are together in the following paragraph in Hood's letter to May, one of Dr. Eliot's daughters. "Tell Dunnie that Tom has set his trap in the balcony, and has caught a cold; and tell Jeanie that Fannie has set her foot in the garden, but it has not come up yet. * * The other night, when I came from Stratford the cold shrivelled me up so when I got home I thought I was my own child."

The best thing Crabb Robinson did in this way was by surprising a girl, who said she did not know how to write a letter to her brother, by proving to her that she was a perfect letter writer. She had asked Robinson to suggest all the subjects. He proposed, purposely, something untrue, then something silly; but both were rejected by the child on the ground of their untruthfulness and silliness. This process went on until the child adopted such subjects as were adapted to her purpose, and she found she was a good letter writer without knowing it.

We conclude with an unpublished letter from an American lady, who, some quarter of a century ago, aspired to be the instructor of children. The quaintness and simplicity, for it is all sober earnestness, are worthy of being preserved: "Dear Sir: Having heard that you are in want of a governess for your children, I write to offer myself as a candidate for that post. My acquirements are English in all its branches, French, German, music, which I play well, singing, painting, drawing and dancing. My age is just twenty-eight. I am a lady by birth, high spirited, and, I am sorry to say, slightly quick tempered, but still very fond of children, likewise of gentlemen's society. I am rather delicate, and when not as well as usual require a few tempting viands. I hope, if you decide in having me for your children as their governess, that you will allow me the entre of your drawing rooms at all times, and that you will allow me to join in all your domestic amusements. I wish to inform you that I have been in the habit of receiving £60 (sixty pounds) per annum, or fifty pounds (£50) with laundress, and all traveling expenses paid. You may be glad to hear that I have an elegant figure, small hands and feet, and am, if my friends and admirers are to be believed, engaging."

English and the Heathen.

CHRISTIANITY'S NEW DANGER—SPEECH OF THE ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY AT CARLISLE.

The Primate of England spoke at Carlisle, England, recently, at a meeting in behalf of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, and in the course of his remarks, said: "It is now almost easier to go to a distant heathen land than it was in the days of our grandfathers to travel from Carlisle to London. The whole world has been brought wonderfully near. In old times if you wished to stir up men's zeal for the missionary cause—knowing that the sight was far more powerful than that we merely hear of—it might be necessary to send them to distant lands that they might see specimens of the heathen. But now take a return ticket to London in the middle of the season: go either to Her Majesty's levee or the Lord Mayor's banquet, or walk even through the streets, and what do you see? A cavalcade of some six carriages, bearing the Burmese Ambassadors—absolute heathen, who have come to do their homage to the greatness of England in the center of England. Go to the Temple where the familiar sight of our barristers with their peculiar costume used formerly to be the only thing we saw, and we find some sixty Hindoo members of the Temple of Lincoln's Inn, still remaining Hindoos and heathen in the center of England civilization. Go, again, to another quarter of the city—to the East-end of London—to what is called the Oriental Home, where every specimen of the heathen of the East is gathered together in consequence of our merchandise with the East, living here for months, mixed with our people, or follow Dickens into the Chinaman's shop, and see there men smoking opium as if they were in the centre of China, or go elsewhere and meet a whole troupe of Japanese and you will see that a man no more requires to go to the extremities of the earth to be convinced of the claims the heathen have upon us, and that in our own metropolis we are brought so near heathenism of the worst class that unless we take some steps, instead of converting the heathen, the heathen will be converting us. For this is not an imaginary idea. I am almost afraid to say it, but I cannot help thinking this great proximity of the East to ourselves has somehow or other infected the philosophy on which the young men fed in our great seminaries of learning, and that men of learning, from rubbing shoulders with men who altogether disbelieve in Christianity, have more toleration for that denial than they had in the olden times; and that systems which have existed for centuries in the extreme land of heathenism are finding some sort of echo even among the literature and philosophy of this Christian country. I say, then, we are forced by what we see around us—by the proximity into which we are brought with heathen tribes, to exert ourselves. We were told as a shocking thing in Cape Colony, some time ago, that the influx of Mohammedans it was making inroads by making converts from Christianity into Mohammedanism. It would be far worse if the influx of heathens into England and into London were to make some converts among ourselves. Therefore I think we are bound now, far more than ever we were before, to exert ourselves in this great work, which this and the sister society have undertaken now for many years."

Parental Egotism.

[From the Hearth and Home.]

There are very few parents who understand that the element of personal feeling should be eliminated in the management of children. The parent is a judge, and the judge must be dispassionate, else all authority is weakened. Let us see how it works. John breaks a vase. His mother is very much irritated at the destruction of her favorite vase, and punishes him, not according to his sin, but according to her annoyance. She does not even stop to inquire whether or not the vase was broken by one of those unavoidable accidents which might have happened to herself or to the most careful person. In thus punishing her son she has been guilty of selfish injustice and of cruelty. She has weakened his respect and his affection for her, and has done much to destroy her authority. The child feels that his mother is only avenging her own personal grievances.

A few days later this same John is guilty of an act morally bad. It may chance that no evil consequences follow. The mother is glad to avoid trouble, and she lets it pass with little or no admonition. Johnny is a sharp boy, and puts two ideas together very quickly. "It does not matter that I do wrong," he says, "if only I don't bother mamma. But I must take care not to touch any thing of hers, else I'll catch it." It would be hard for family government to do a child a greater injury than to leave just this impression on his mind. The mother has succeeded in confounding all moral distinctions in his mind, has weakened all authority, and set the example of selfishness, cruelty and injustice.

Most parents attach too much importance to the manner in which their children speak to them. Sensitive as to their own dignity, they take umbrage at the disrespectful word that seems to infringe upon it, and they visit with sharpest indignation this evidence of an ill-bred impudence in their child. They persuade themselves that they are disinterestedly laboring for the good of their child. They forget the large element of a sense of personal injury that enters into their feeling. But the child does not fail to notice it, and he in turn resents his own wrongs in the same spirit, but he certainly does not feel more respect toward the parent who has failed to exercise a needful self-control. It were better that a parent should show less feeling in regard to an offence against himself than it really deserves. His government should be above the suspicion of personal resentments.

On a steam engine there is a useful mechanical device called "the governor," which counteracts to a certain extent the irregularities of pressure and resistance, by letting on more steam as the speed decreases, and shutting it off when it increases. It would be an excellent thing if parental management could have some equalizer, which would prevent its making children the victims of moods. When a child comes to understand that hot weather, indigestion or business annoyances increase the severity of the discipline under which he lives, he is apt to lose his respect for that discipline. The wise parent studies always to eliminate the personal element from his management of the child.

For those parents to think that it is their business to punish a child's wrong doing as a personal offence against themselves, we have no word. The first thing is to understand that you are not to inflict chastisement "after your own pleasure," but according to the example of God, for the good of the offender.

INSECT SAGACITY.—Some years ago I was residing with my husband in Upper Canada. The Summer heat in that country is something more than that which we are wont to enjoy in England, and with the thermometer at ninety-six degrees in the house, the shade of a thick grove of broad leaved trees on the margin of a beautiful bay was naturally most inviting for a little ramble. One sunny morning, therefore, with book in hand, I sought this cooling shade which was near, being part of our own ground. Sauntering along one of its paths, I came to a long plank, which, in appearance, seemed a remnant of some floor. One end rested on a fallen tree, the other on the ground, and close to the latter was a large flat stone. Without thinking, I lifted the stone with the end of my parasol and turned it over. In so doing, I exposed to the light of day the secret chambers of an emmet's nest. I would have gladly replaced the stone, but it was too late; before I could do so, the whole community were on their way up the plank as fast as they could go. My attention was arrested by observing that the plank was split at the lower end, and that one poor little emmet had been traveling up with the others, but with half of his body in the crack, and he had thus proceeded till he found himself so wedged that his fore legs vainly strove to extricate the imprisoned half of his body. I was on the point of aiding him with a straw, when I saw another, which had been lagged behind coming fast toward him; so I waited to see the result. He tried hard to set his friend at liberty, but failed, and then ran as fast as he could, till he overtook the rest, which had just reached the upper end of the plank. I, of course, lost sight of him, but, to my astonishment, the whole mass returned at once, surrounded and covered the prisoner, and after some hurried movements of every individual they all set off to ascend the plank again—the prisoner was free!—M. P., in Leisure Hours.

CURIOSITIES OF VISION.—Appleton's Journal contains the following singular statement:

"We presume that the most of our readers have a general notion of the structure and working of the human eye. They know that the little sphere, of an inch or so in diameter, which forms the eyeball, is a camera, essentially like the one used by the photographer to throw the image of external objects upon the surface to receive it and placed within the apparatus. The mere forming of the picture inside the eye is not, however, seeing. The picture might as well be anywhere else, if there were not some means of making the mind aware of its existence. The optic nerve answers this purpose—a branch of the brain which enters the eye through a small hole in the rear, and spreads out in a delicate network over the surface whereupon the picture is formed. The impression made by the rays of light upon this net-work of nerves is telegraphed to the mind, which then sees the object, or, rather from seeing its image in the eye, comes to recognize the existence of the object itself outside the eye.

"If the optic nerve should be severed, the picture in the eye might be as perfect as before, but we would nevertheless be blind to it. If any portion of the net work of the nerves just mentioned should be paralyzed, we would cease to see part of the picture formed on the portion of the eye's inner surface. If the entire image of some small objects should fall upon that insensible spot, we could no more see it, even though looking straight at it, than if we had no eyes, or kept them shut. It is a curious fact that there is such a "blind spot" in every human eye, and, what is more curious, it is found to be just where the optic nerve enters the eye—the very place which we might suppose would have the keenest sight of all."

There is no improvement to note in the general condition of the money market, its chief characteristics being unaltered. With an active demand, the supply of loanable funds is still short and, of course, entirely inadequate to meet it. Rates are nominal, the banks and lenders generally having little difficulty in making their own terms, when they have the money to dispose of.

Produce receipts show an increase, and prices are unchanged. Though indications are not always to be relied on, we should judge that dealers are realizing no more than living profits. Our merchants and jobbers claim that the present season has been, as a whole, an unprofitable one, owing more to high freights and slow payments than to a falling off of the volume of trade. Our Eastern exchanges tell the same story of tightness in the money market, which we have heard so often on this coast during the past ninety days. Dispatches of yesterday from New York announce the sale, by the U S Assistant Treasurer, at New York, of $5,000,000 in gold, with a view to ease the money market. There is no sound financier in the country who is not satisfied that the prudent management of the financial affairs of the nation has been the safeguard of business, and the strong support of our commerce, and that no other system would have been so safe in its general results.

The loudest call of producers on this coast at present is for ocean transportation. Wheat from interior California is reaching San Francisco at the rate of two shiploads per day. Proportionately an equal quantity is being received here, though as a matter of course the aggregate is not near so large. All of this must find its way into the markets of the world and both dealers and producers are anxiously inquiring by what channel can it be moved? Rates in the United Kingdom do not seem inclined toward a figure which will justify shipment at the freights which now rule, and even these high freights, have not drawn a sufficient number of vessels hither to move a moiety of our surplus. Our home market shows no change, rates ruling about as at our last report.

Advices from Europe all agree that the Grain crop in nearly all parts of the continent will be at least an average one. This is another reason why our crop goes off so slowly.

The San Francisco Chronicle of the 2d says: "The receipts of Wheat at this port for September aggregate over 1,650,000 centals, being larger than for any previous month in the history of California. The receipts for the same month in previous years compare as follows: 1865, 337,800 centals; 1866, 731,700; 1867, 1,014,200; 1868, 1,202 700; 1869, 1,130,460; 1870, 859,960; 1871, 464,700; 1872, 1,065,420. From July 1st to September 30th, the receipts aggregated 3,8?8,000 centals, and the exports were 2,239,282 centals Wheat and 63,400 bbls Flour. In July fifteen full cargoes of Wheat were sent to England, and a partial cargo to Australia. In August thirty two cargoes were dispatched to England and one full cargo to Australia, and in September twenty eight full cargoes were cleared for England. 41 vessels loaded at the wharves in this city, 27 at Oakland, and 11 loaded most of cargo at Vallejo. The Wheat shipments in July, August and September, were as follows: Great Britain, 2,-198 0?3 centals, Australia, 28 07, New York, 7 522, and other ports, 4,726. Total 2,239 282 centals, valued at $3,775 141. In September 12,500 bbls Flour were exported valued at $60,055. The total value of Wheat shipped from San Francisco during the past three months is $3 72 411 and the value of Flour exported during the same time, $120,847—giving a total of $4 016 078."

The great surplus in California will naturally keep back that of this State and deprive any extensive movements in that line in our home market for the present.

Oats and Barley are not in excess of the demand for home consumption, while Potatoes, Onions, Cabbage, and every variety of vegetables, are in abundant supply, within the reach of all.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, IN CONVENTION AT PHILADELPHIA, JUNE 6, 1872.

The Republican Party of the United States assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia, on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history and announces its position upon the questions before the country.

1. During the eleven years of its ascendancy it has accepted with grand courage the solemn duties of the time, has suppressed a gigantic rebellion, emancipated four millions of slaves, decreed the equal citizenship of all, and established universal suffrage. Exhibiting unparalleled magnanimity, it criminally punished no man for political offenses and has warmly welcomed all who proved their loyalty by obeying the laws and dealing justly with their neighbors. It has steadily pursued the just policy toward the Indians; the Pacific Railroad and similar vast enterprises have been generously aided and successfully conducted to completion; the public lands have been freely given to actual settlers, immigration has been protected and encouraged, and a full acknowledgment of the rights of naturalized citizens secured from European powers. In the form of National currency it has provided for the National credit and sustained it under the most extraordinary burdens. It has negotiated new bonds at lower rates of interest. The revenues have been carefully collected and honestly applied. Despite the annual large reductions from the rates of taxation, the public debt has been reduced during U. S. Grant's Presidency at the rate of $100,000,000 per year. A great financial crisis has been averted, and peace and plenty prevail throughout the land. Menacing foreign difficulties have been peacefully and honorably compromised, and the honor and power of the Nation kept in a high position throughout the world. This glorious record of the past is the party's best pledge for the future and we believe that the people will not entrust the government to any party or combination of men, composed of those who chiefly have resisted every step in this beneficial progress.

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither law nor its administration should admit of any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color, or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured the amendments.

4. The National Government seeks to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system, by a law which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public position, without practically creating a lifetenure of office.

6. We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolists, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free settlement by the people.

7. The annual revenue, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal of the public debt, and except so much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties on importations, which should be adjusted to aid in securing remunerative wages to laborers, and to promote the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for the country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. We favor such additional legislation as will extend the bounty of the Government to all our soldiers and sailors who were honorably discharged, and who in the line of duty became disabled, without regard to length of service or the cause of such discharge.

9. The doctrine of Great Britain and other European powers concerning allegiance, once a subject always a subject, having at last, through the efforts of the Republican party, been abandoned, and the American idea of the right of an individual to transfer his allegiance having been accepted by European nations, it is the duty of our Government to guard with jealous care the rights of adopted citizens against the assumption of unauthorized claims by their former Government, and we urge a continued and careful encouragement and protection to voluntary emigration.

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and a way proposed for reductions in the rates of postage.

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an imperative duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13. We denounce the repudiation of public debts, in any form or disguise, as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

14. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom, their application for admission to further usefulness is received with satisfaction; and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve of the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party proposes to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves, as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Territorial governments. It disapproves of asserting constitutional laws for the purpose of removing evils by the interference with rights not surrendered by the people to either the State or National Government.

17. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship-building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people, and with him at our head we start to-day on a new march to victory.

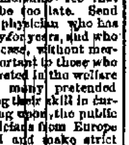
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. One of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy too work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not decoy people by exhibiting bogus articles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to cure diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, cor Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. ly6d4p

ADVERTISING

Has created many a new business,
Has enlarged many an old business,
Has revived many a dull business,
Has rescued many a lost business,
Has saved many a failing business,
Has preserved many a large business,
And insures success in any business.

GIRARD'S SECRET.—Stephen Girard used to say, in his old age: "I have always considered advertising liberally and long to be the great medium of success in business, and the prelude to wealth. And I have made it an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many sales that I otherwise would have lost."

ADVERTISE YOUR BUSINESS

KEEP YOUR NAME BEFORE THE PUBLIC.

JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING INSURES A FORTUNE.

IF BUSINESS IS DULL, ADVERTISE.

IF BUSINESS IS BRISK, ADVERTISE.

The man who didn't believe in advertising has gone into partnership with the sheriff, and that does the advertising. jyl6dtf
